Those anti who are quiting WILLIAM H. SEWARD as an anti-Expansionist because he opposed the annexation of Texas in the campaign of 1844, should go a little slow. SEWARD opposed the annexation of Texas not because he was an anti-Expansionist, but because he was against the acquisition of any more slave territory. The purchase of Alaska, later consummated by Mr. SEWARD, showed his attitude upon Expansion.

The small record of business failures throughout the United States continues to annoy the spirits of those who would seem to prefer seeing business depression and panic under a Republican Administration, than prosperity and activity, even though they themselves share in it. The failures for the week ending December 31, 1899, according to Dun's Review, were only 144, as against 281 for the by no means unparalleled corresponding week of 1898.

The Indianapolis Journal calls attention to the fact that the Supreme Court has decided in every case in which unlawful combinations are tempted in violation of interstate commerce.

Republicans Oppose Treaties. It has, therefore, sustained the views of HARRISON, SHERMAN and leading Republicans, which are embodied in the Sherman Law, and has rejected the doubts of Mr. CLEVELAND and his associates, which seemed to prevent the two entirely Democratic Congresses which followed the Congress enacting the Sherman Law from taking any action hostile to Treaties.

In this latest decision—the Adleyton case—the Court has declared without reservation that Congress has power to legislate against all combinations of manufacturers which are in restraint of commerce between the states. And now President McKinley urges Congress, which has the highest assurance of its right to legislate against Treaties prejudicial to interstate commerce, to enact further and final Laws.

SUED FOR $6,598.93.

An Echo of the Late W. A. Sudduth of Louisville.

The Columbia Finance and Trust Company of Louisville has sued the First National Bank to force payment of two checks, one for $4,962.50 and the other for $2,500.

The suit grows out of fees which the Richmond and Irvine Construction Company owed to the late law firm of Stone & Sudduth.

Stone & Sudduth, as a firm, assigned the fees to the Columbia Finance and Trust Company, but the First National Bank resisted payment of the checks on the claim that it held a prior assignment of the fees, made to itself by W. A. Sudduth individually.

NEWS IN KENTUCKY.

WILL CONTINUE CONTEST.

Republicans Leaders Have Not Given Up the Idea of Seating Taylor as Governor.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 8.—Republican leaders who are on confidential terms with Gov. Taylor indicated that the republican contest may not quit the fight in the event the legislature and the state central board vote to seat Goebel and the democratic contestants. They have by no means given up hope that they will win in the legislature, but are taking time for the forenoon and are looking around for other means in case Goebel should win.

It is generally believed that they will seek to raise a federal question and take the case into the United States court. One of the questions which could be raised, they claim, would be on the ousting of Lieut. Gov. Marshall as presiding officer of the joint assembly, in the event of the adoption of the rules as passed by the senate Saturday, and also on prospective wholesale unseating of republican members of the present legislature.

The house will take up the information filed in the senate Saturday, charging William Taylor and Ryan with attempting to bribe Senator Harrel in the governorship contest, together with the resolution providing for a joint investigating committee.

The resolution is practically certain to go through, as the republican and anti-Goebel leaders say they can not afford to defeat an investigation, though they regard the whole affair as inspired by politics.

The fight over the rules will not come up till Thursday, and this is expected to furnish something like a list of the Goebel and anti-Goebel strength in the lower branch. The republican leaders admit that the adoption of the rules, as sent over from the senate, will be a very serious blow to the minority.

Senator Barrett, chairman of the republican joint caucus, has called the caucus to meet tonight to nominate a candidate for senator. Former Gov. W. O. Bradley will be the nominee. He will probably be named by acclamation. His nomination is the result of a pence which has been declared between the republican factions, one of which was headed by the late Senator Harrel, and the other by Minister W. G. Lindsey, Senator Harrel, Gov. Taylor and all of the national administration leaders in Kentucky.

FINE HALL BURNED. Junior Fought His Way Through the Flames, Rescuing His Wife.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 8.—Liederkrantz hall, the handsome new home of the society, at the corner of Sixth and Walnut streets, was completely destroyed by fire at an early hour in the morning. The loss is $40,000, insurance $18,000.

The junior, Fred Bohrer, and his wife, who sleep on the third floor, were awakened by the smoke and fled. Bohrer returned to get an insurance policy in a desk and was overcome by the smoke and fell fainting across the foot of the bed. Her husband returned for her. He made his way vertically through the smoke and flames and carried the helpless woman to a place of safety. The guests of the Waverly hotel, immediately adjacent, were panic-stricken and fled from the building. The hotel was damaged about $500.

FIGHT AT A TRIAL. Two of the Participants Were Shot and Killed and Two Others Seriously Wounded.

London, Ky., Jan. 8.—News has reached here of a general fight on Otter creek, Clay county, in which Lewis and Gen. May were shot and killed and four other participants seriously wounded. The fight occurred at a schoolhouse on Otter creek, where one of the Jacksons was on trial before a magistrate for killing another Jackson. The fight was started soon after the trial began, and court was adjourned and the fight carried in the schoolhouse and yard.

Four of the men were brought to Manchester and placed in jail. Lige Lewis, one of the men killed, is a brother of ex-Sheriff Joe Lewis, of Clay county.

Shot at a Party. A. James Watkins was shot and instantly killed while attending a party near Boles, on the Tennessee border. He was called to the door by an unknown party. The weapon used was a shotgun. A. B. Mayfield is charged with the crime. An old grudge existed between the two men, and each, it is said, had maintained that position that an encounter met death. No one saw Mayfield do anything, and the charge is based on the enmity that existed, along with other circumstantial evidence. Watkins when shot fell backwards into the half circle of merry-makers who had congregated about the door.

Goebel Will Be in Possession. Chicago, Jan. 8.—Urey Woodson, of Kentucky, national democratic committee man from that state, and a member of the ways and means committee, who came to Chicago to attend the Jackson banquet, said: "Mr. Goebel will be in possession of the governor's office between January 25 and February 1. Senator Blackburn, and not Mr. Goebel, is the man who insisted on carrying the contest up to the legislature."

Mr. John I. Winter was at Brookville all last week involving stock at his big store there.

Miss Ida Cooper, formerly of Hectorville, this county, died yesterday at her home near Hillsboro, Ind.

LIEUT. GILMORE.

He Tells a Remarkable Story of His Eight Months Captivity in the Philippines.

DRAMATIC DELIVERANCE FROM DEATH.

The Lieutenant is Tanned and Ruddy From Exposure and is Very Weak and Nervous.

He Speaks Warmly of Gen. Aguinaldo and Very Bitterly Against Gen. Tio, Who Treated Him Badly.

Manila, Jan. 8.—Lieut. J. C. Gilmore, of the United States gunboat Yorktown, who was captured by the insurgents last April near Baler, on the coast of Luzon, and rescued a few days ago by Col. Luther H. Hale, of the 8th volunteer infantry, at the apartment of his sister, Mrs. Maj. Price, at the Hotel Oriente in Manila, told a remarkable story of his eight months of captivity, ending with his dramatic deliverance from a death that seemed inevitable.

The steamer Venus came into the harbor Saturday evening from Vigan, province of South Ilocos, with Lieut. Gilmore and 10 other American prisoners, including seven of his sailors from the Yorktown. Lieut. Gilmore, after reporting, came ashore and hobnobbed along with a number of the hotel's guests, while American officers and ladies were waiting through the halls to the strains of "America's Mother."

Although tanned and ruddy from exposure he is weak and nervous, showing the results of long hard labor. He speaks warmly of Aguinaldo and very bitterly against Gen. Tio, declaring that while in the former's jurisdiction he was treated splendidly, but that after he fell into Tio's hands he suffered everything. Col. Hale and Lieut. Col. Howse, the latter of the 34th volunteer infantry, rescued Gilmore, partly on December 13 near the headquarters of the Abul river, after they had been abandoned by the Filipinos and were expecting death from the savage tribes around them. When the rescuing force reached them they were nearly starved, but were building rafts in the hope of getting down the river to the coast.

Lieut. Gilmore made the following statement:

"The Filipinos abandoned us on the night of December 16. We had reached the Abul river near its source that morning and the Filipinos rafted us over. We then went down the stream along a rough trail, guarded by a company of Filipinos. That night we were separated from this guard, and another company, armed with Mausers, was put in charge of us. I suspected something and questioned the lieutenant in charge. He said: 'I have orders from Gen. Tio to shoot you all, but my conscience forbids. I shall leave you here.'

"I begged for two rifles to protect us from savages, adding that I would give him letters to the Americans who would pay him well and keep him from all harm. He refused this, however, saying that he would not dare to comply. Soon afterward he left with his company.

"We had seen some savages in the past around us, and we prepared to defend them with our rifles, but the only weapons that were available to us. The next morning we followed the trail of the Filipino soldiers, feeling that it was better to stick to them than be murdered by savages, but we could not catch up with them. Then I ordered the men to build rafts, in the hope of floating down the river. It was a forlorn hope, but I knew the river must empty into the sea somewhere. I was so weak myself that I did not expect to get out, but I thought some of the men could.

"On the morning of December 18 while we were working on the rafts the Americans came toward us. Lieut. Gilmore saw valuable papers. Only 14 out of the 37 rafts survived the first night's experience and 80 men were practically unable to walk when Vigan was reached.

Describing the flight from Benguet when the Americans approached, Lieut. Gilmore said:

"The Filipinos, completely terrified, left Benguet on December 7. They hurried the prisoners from town to town, often retreating the trail, not knowing where the Americans would attack. After being almost without food for three days, they killed several horses and we lived on horse meat for several days. I did not have a full meal from December 7 until I reached Vigan. Indeed, the rescuing party lived largely on raw rice with goat milk. There was one day when I was reduced to chewing grass and bark."

"While we were in the hands of Gen. Tio's men he issued an order that any person aiding an American, by food or money, should be treated as a criminal. One citizen of Vigan, Senor Vera, was probably killed for befriending us. We would have starved but for the kindness of some of the residents of the towns and some of the Filipino colonists; but others treated us brutally. Wherever there was a prison we were kept there. There was no poison, they would lodge us in a convent. We suffered greatly from want of exercise, as well as lack of food."

"The Filipino treatment of the Spaniards," said Lieut. Gilmore, "was brutal in the extreme. The insurgents had old grudges to wipe out against them. Many talk about the reconcentrados in Cuba, but I have seen Spaniards dying at the rate of two or three per day of starvation in the hospitals at Vigan. I have seen Tugos officers strike Spaniards in the face with whips and revolvers."

DR. MCGLYNN DEAD.

The Once Famous Priest Dies at His Home in Newburgh, N. Y., of Heart Failure.

Newburgh, N. Y., Jan. 8.—Rev. Dr. Edward McGlynn, rector of St. Mary's church, died at the rectory at 5:20 o'clock Sunday afternoon after an illness of about seven weeks of heart failure, superinduced by Bright's disease.

A minor surgical operation was performed on Dr. McGlynn Saturday night, but this did not effect the patient or contribute materially to his death.

During the day Dr. McGlynn had several sinking spells and the physicians were called early to his bedside where they remained until he died.

At noon it was apparent that the end was near, and Dr. McGlynn received holy communion from the assistant rector of St. Mary's, who later administered extreme unction. After high mass in the morning Dr. McGlynn was surrounded by a number of friends, prolonging life, were made by the physicians but at 4 o'clock the priest lapsed into unconsciousness, his last audible prayer being: "Jesus have mercy on me."

He passed away without recovering consciousness.

For two days Dr. McGlynn had been troubled with hiccoughs but was able to take liquid nourishment to the last. Dr. McGlynn was aware that his end was near, receiving the word tranquilly.

Dr. McGlynn was first stricken with illness November 16 at the rectory. He was seized with a severe cold and was compelled to seek his bed. Though he was obliged to break engagements to lecture, no alarm was felt by his friends until the following Monday, when he suffered a severe chill.

The first serious attack occurred November 26, and a day or two later there was a continuation of the illness. It was announced that Dr. McGlynn was suffering from chronic kidney disease.

Early in December Dr. McGlynn suffered two attacks of heart failure, and his relatives were hurriedly summoned. He rallied, however, and until Saturday night he appeared to be holding his own, and gradually regained strength. He was able to sit by his bedside for a few minutes each day, but was never able to leave his room.

Dr. McGlynn was 62 years of age last September. When he was stricken was robust and of fine physique, but he became greatly emaciated by his long illness.

FORECAST OF CONGRESS.

What Will Probably Take Place in the Senate and House During the Week.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The week in the senate is necessarily well given up largely to specknapping. Senator Pettigrew's resolution asking for information concerning the Philippine war will come up, and he and probably other senators will speak upon it. Senator Morgan has given notice of a speech in which he will discuss the race question in the south. Senator Morgan will deliver his speech on the Philippine problem, and Wednesday will be devoted to eulogies of the late Vice President Hobart. The greater part of the remainder of the week will be devoted to the finances of the object of the managers of the financial bill being to give as much time as possible to this measure until it is acted upon. It is now understood that almost all the senators opposed to the bill will talk upon it before the vote is taken, but there has not yet been any arrangement of the order in which they will address the senate.

There is no program in the house for the present week, the only certain feature is the consideration of the urgency deficiency appropriation bill. It will be ready Tuesday or Wednesday. It will contain almost $50,000,000 for the army and navy, and while it will pass when it reaches a vote it may precipitate a stormy debate upon the subject of the war in the Philippines. The answer of Secretary Gage to the house resolution, calling for information regarding the deposit of government funds in national banks, is expected early in the week. The report will not constitute a privileged question which will open up debate, but it is deemed unsafe to factory to any one resolutions of investigation may follow. The Roberts case will not get before the house until the end of the week at the earliest, and probably not then. The hearings have been adjourned until Wednesday, and it is hardly likely that the report can be prepared in time for presentation this week.

Hand to Hand Fight.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—In a hand to hand fight between members of the Salvation army and two men, Albert Fred and Peter Koppman, of the army were seriously cut. Emmet D.
